My Dream Job

Everyone has a dream job when they're young. I want to be a scientist when I grow up because it is an interesting and meaningful job. If I become a scientist, I will conduct a lot of scientific research and experiments. Then I can use my knowledge to improve people's lives.

Scientists need to be patient so that they won't give up easily. They need to keep on trying in their experiments even they are unsuccessful so that they can verify their scientific points. Scientists need to be curious too so that they won't be bored and satisfied easily while they are exploring the world. Lastly, scientists need to be intelligent so that they can analyze and understand the difficult concepts in science reference materials and conduct scientific research successfully.

I think this job is suitable for me because I am patient and diligent. I am always calm and careful when I'm solving a problem. I am curious and intelligent too as I won't stop finding the answers of questions that I don't understand until I got them. However, there's much more to be done. I need to study hard and learn more about science. Furthermore, I need to read and watch books or documentaries in order to know more about this occupations. I need to do sums quicker and more carefully too to reach this goal. I hope I can be a scientist one day.
