A naughty kid in the supermarket

Yesterday, Tiara and Danny went to the supermarket to buy some food for a picnic. They felt excited.

First, they went to the snack section. Danny said, 'Let's buy three packets of Yummy Potato Chips.' 'How much are three packets of Yummy Potato Chips?' Tiara asked. Danny answered, 'Forty-two dollars ninety! Crispy Potato Chips are cheaper than Yummy Potato Chips. They are twenty-one dollars twenty' Tiara replied. Then, they bought three packets of Crispy Potato Chips.

After that, they went to the vegetable and fruit section. Tiara suggested, 'Let's buy a packet of strawberries!' Then they got a packet of strawberries. Suddenly, they saw a naughty boy running with a packet of eggs. His mother was chasing him and trying to stop him from running. Then, the boy fell down and broke all the eggs. Tiara and Danny were shocked.

Finally, the mother took the boy to the cashier and asked him to say sorry to the shop manager. ‘I’m so sorry that I broke all the eggs,’ the boy said. ‘Never mind!’ the shop manager replied. The boy’s mother paid for the broken eggs and left the supermarket with her son. Tiara and Danny learnt that they should never run in a supermarket.
