How should we behave well in different places

It is important to behave well in different places.

First, we should have good manners in the restaurant. We should speak politely to the waiters because we ought to respect those who serve us. Then we should eat quietly during the meal so we can keep our table manners.

Second, we shouldn't talk to our friends loudly because we must not disturb others in the restaurant. Of course, we shouldn't order the food greedily because we ought not to waste the food.

Furthermore, we should have good manners also at the train station. We should wait patiently when we are lining up to get on the train because we must ensure the safety of one another. We should give up the seats actively to the elders because they need the seat more than us. Finally, we shouldn't smoke on the platform because it is illegal. Of course, we shouldn't run madly on the platform because it will cause the accident and affect one another.

To sum up, we should behave well in different places.
