Good Manners in Different Places

It is important to behave well in various places. Read this article to learn more about it.

First, we should have good manners in the cinemas. We should wait patiently for our turns to buy tickets or snacks. If we follow this rule, we can be fair to everyone. Also, we should sit properly during the film so we won't disturb others. We shouldn't arrive late to the cinemas because we may block someone's view when we are looking for our seats. We shouldn't talk loudly either because others will think we are annoying.

We should have good behavior in public libraries too. We should return books on time and handle them with care. We should never write or draw in the books, or else they will be ruined. Remember these books are not ours, so we can't do whatever we want to them. Besides, some books were published many years ago. They will no longer be reprinted. So it will be a loss to all the readers if we damage the books carelessly. We should put them back on the shelf after reading so the libraries will be neat and tidy. A lot of people especially small children like to play in there, but this is not a playground, we mustn't run around or else we may hurt other readers there.

To sum up, we should always behave properly in various places even at home. Do you learn more about good manners and bad manners after reading this article?
