Dolls' World

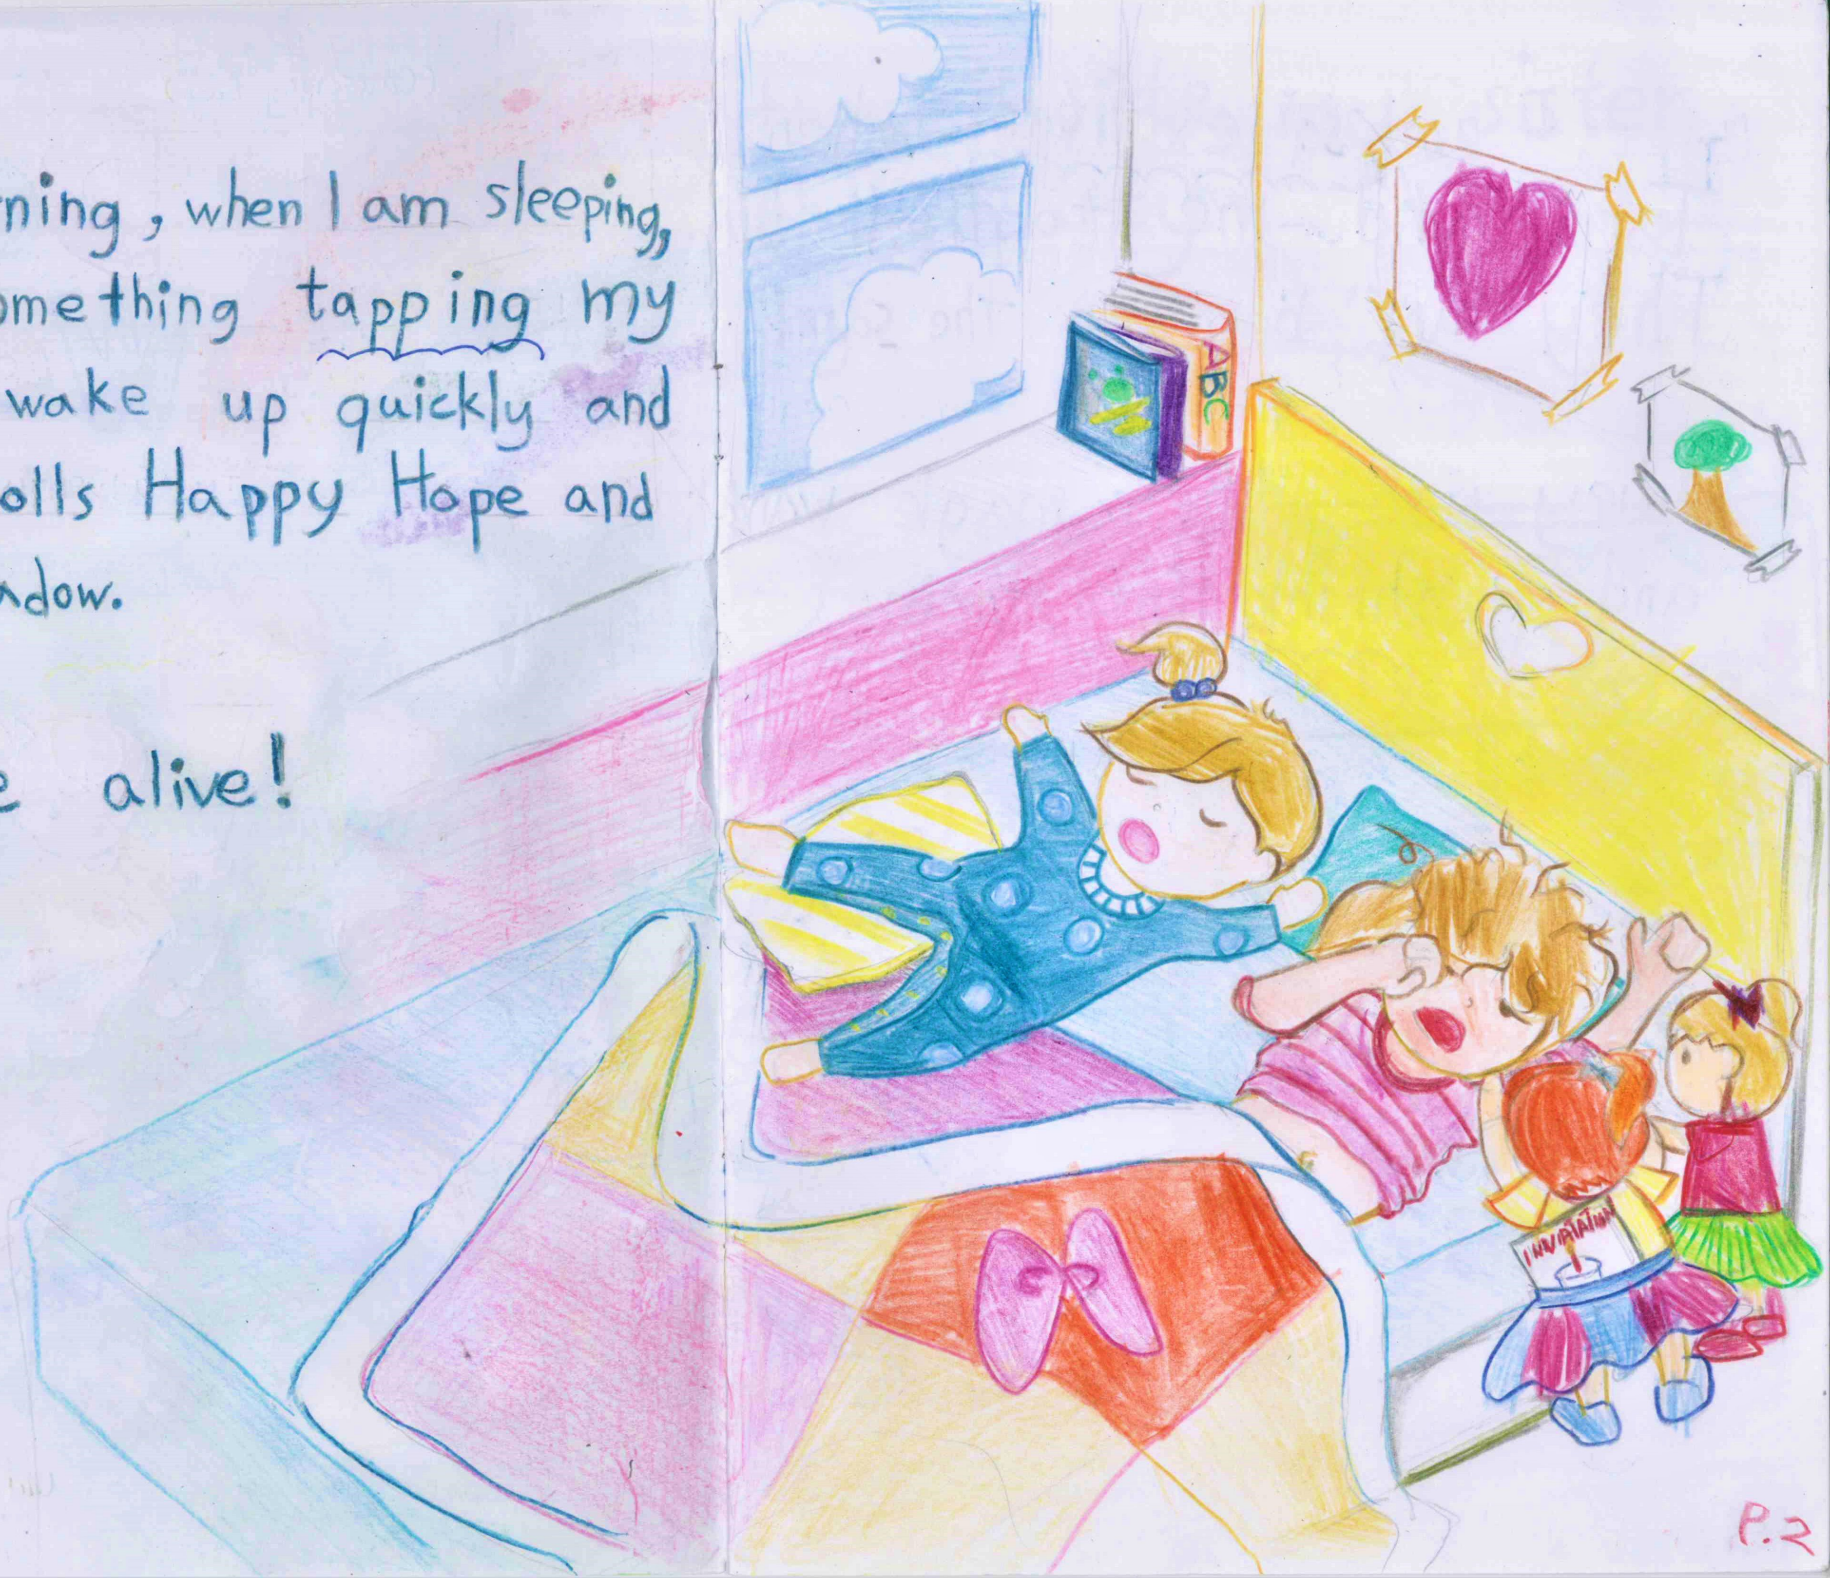

The adventure of Dolma and Tara

Dolma Tam
and THE TAM IP₂₀
FAMILY 譚家文

This morning, when I am sleeping, there is something tapping my nose. I wake up quickly and see our dolls Happy Hope and Merry Meadow.

They are alive!

I am so excited when they invite my sister, Tara, and me to their birthday party. They are born on the same day.

They use their magic wands and we shrink into their size.

We go inside their doll house and they take us to a world of dolls. We see a jack-in-the-box on the lawn.

It is as large as a fridge and as noisy as a construction site. "I'm not a doll. I'm a human," I say.

The jack-in-the-box thinks we are interesting because it never sees a human in this world.

The jack-in-the-box thinks we are interesting because it never sees a human in this world.

It has no legs, so it jumps and jumps and takes us to a pink castle near the rainbow. We meet a Barbie doll that has rainbow hair, a blue and pink dress.

There is also a prince doll
in a green outfit.

Barbie asks us to go inside
the castle and prince takes us to a magical room.

Tara is hungry, and the prince tells us to ask the magic table for something to eat.
I ask for a delectable
doughnut and Tara
asks for a rainbow cake.

The party is huge! I drive a fog plane that looks like a high-heeled shoe.
Tara swim in a rainbow pool with pink dolphins.

Happy Hope's magic wand
begins to glow and it is time to go home. Merry Meadow says, "Abracadabra!" We get bigger and bigger, and are back into our normal sizes.

We are back in our bed room.

Tara has too much fun and falls asleep. The two dolls are in their own toy cribs and are sleeping too.
Next time we will go to Balloonland.
