A Day at SOGO

It is Sunday. My friend, Marcus and I want to buy my mother a present because my mother's birthday is coming soon. 'Where do you want to go?' asks Marcus. I answer, 'I want to go to the purse shop because I want to buy a nice purse for my mother.' Marcus says, 'Let's go.' Then, we go to SOGO by taxi.

We go to Furla. I see a beautiful Hello Kitty purse with Hello Kitty's face on it. I ask the shopkeeper, 'How much is the purse?' The shopkeeper replies, 'It is nine hundred and thirty-eight dollars. However, if you buy it now, you can get a four-hundred-dollar discount. Which is ... five hundred and thirty-eight dollars.' 'Perfect! We have six hundred dollars. We will buy it.' I say excitedly.

After that we are hungry. We go to TeaWood. I order a bowl of minced pork rice, a chocolate ice cream and a can of Sprite. My friend orders a cheeseburger, a can of cola and a packet of French fries. Time for dessert! My ice cream tastes scrumptious. It is topped with whip cream and there are skittles too! We feel overjoyed and satisfied. I'm thankful to Marcus for going out with me.
