Tiny Eric and his Magic Adventure

They did not know what to do. Then the genie had an idea. ‘We can find my friend wizard William,’ he suggested. ‘He might have a solution.’ Therefore, they set off towards the wizard’s hut. First, they needed to cross a river. Eric is too tall that he could stand in the deep river with his head sticking out of the water!

Next they had to climb a tall mountain, ‘I’m afraid of heights!’ cried Eric. ‘Then climb blindfolded!’ shouted the genie as he whipped out a blindfold out of nowhere and covered Eric’s eyes. As Eric stumbled on the thin path of the hill, the genie was casually floating around, reading a magic book.

Finally they found the wizard. Wizard William said, ‘I can help you, but I need ten frogs, fifteen pieces of stone, twenty pieces of raw beef, and an eraser to brew a potion.’ ‘Stupid genie!’ groaned Eric when he tried to catch the frogs, ‘This is going to take a year!’ ‘Not my fault,’ said the genie, ‘you didn’t say how tall you wanted to be!’

After a lot of findings, Eric gave the ingredients to the wizard, Wizard William asked, ‘How exactly do you want to be shorter?’ ‘I just wanted to be shorter!’ cried Eric. Wizard William soon finished the potion, Eric drank the bottle of potion and became smaller and smaller.....

In the end, Eric is as short as a little child! ‘Stupid wizard!’ shouted Eric. ‘Not my fault,’ said Wizard William. ‘I didn’t know how short you wanted to be!’
