Barry, you can do it!

Barry is a fat boy who likes watching TV and eating snacks. Now he is watching a football match on TV. He wants to join the team too.

On Monday, Barry has a PE lesson. ‘Oh no! He can’t run fast,’ he thinks. ‘I can’t join the football team. I think I need to give up.’ At recess, Barry’s friend, Jacky asks Barry, ‘Why do you look so sad?’ ‘I can’t run fast. I can’t join the football team. Do you think I need to give up?’ Barry says sadly. ‘No, you can do it!’ Jacky encourages Barry, ‘Two years ago, I was thin and weak, now I am fit and strong because I eat vegetables and play sport games, for example, swimming, running and playing basketball. If you keep playing sport games, you can be fit and strong too.’

Barry wants to be fit and strong like Jacky, so he plays a lot of sport games. Barry becomes fit and strong. He can run very fast. He is very happy because he joins the football team in the end.
