A Bad Day

Yesterday, Danny was at home. Mum wanted to make Cola chicken, she asked Danny, 'Can you buy two bottles of Cola in the supermarket? I want to make Cola chicken.' 'Yes! Of course.' Danny replied. Then he took the wallet and went to the supermarket.

Danny ran into the supermarket and saw a lot of Cola fell on the ground, a bottle broke and the Cola was on the ground. 'Oh no! The bottle is broken!' he yelled. He took out his wallet but there was no money in the wallet. He wanted to call his mum but the staff saw him and chased him. He fell on the ground and got hurt. 'Why do you break our Cola bottle?' the staff asked him. 'I...I am so sorry. I will pay for the broken bottle.' Danny said.

He had an idea. He asked the staff to give him a phone and he called his mum. 'What happened?' asked Danny's mum. 'I broke a Cola bottle so I need to pay for it. But my wallet has no money. Can you go to the supermarket to help me pay for the drink?’ Danny asked.

Finally, his mum went to the supermarket and paid the money. Then, they went home. Since then, Danny learnt a lesson that he needs to be careful.
