Good Manners

It is important to have good manners in public places. Today, I am going to tell you what we should and shouldn't do in public places.

First, we should have good manners in a restaurant. Most people know there's often a wait outside the restaurant before entering. We should wait patiently if there are a lot of people outside. We shouldn't jump the queue or cut in line. When we are in a restaurant, we should eat quietly. We shouldn't eat noisily because it will disturb other people.

Being polite in a restaurant is very important, but being polite on the train is also essential. On the train, we should talk on the phone softly. We shouldn't talk on the phone loudly. Moreover, when we see people in need, we should always offer our seats to them. We shouldn't rush to the seats because we might hurt someone.

When we are waiting at the bus stop, we should wait patiently for the bus to arrive. However, we shouldn't wait impatiently because it is going to annoy others too. To sum up, we should always remember to be polite especially in public places.
