A Letter to Humans

I am a friendly shark, and I am writing because we will become endangered soon. We are facing a lot of problems that are caused by humans.

One of the biggest problems we face is water pollution. I often see humans throwing bottles and plastic bags into the sea. We thought they were food at first and ate them. However, a few days later, we started feeling a little bit unwell. I still have a stomachache right now. Ouch! I hope you can tell your friends to use fewer disposable products.

Besides, people always hunt us for our fins. They cut off my brother and sister's fins and threw their bodies back into the sea. Do you know how shocked I was when I saw it? I hope people stop ordering shark fin soup, or else the shark population will continue to decrease.

The third problem is that people use large fishing nets to catch fish. I am often trapped inside them. When these nets are left behind, they become ghost nets and hurt my family. I hope people stop using large nets to catch fish so that they won't catch so many unwanted marine animals by accident.

Please share our story with others so that people will be aware of the problems we are facing. Sharks will become extinct unless humans stop hunting us, dumping disposable products, and using large nets to catch fish. Please make sure this doesn't happen again!
